At NAU, I have the privilege of making a positive impact on the lives of our students. My passion for teaching and mentoring has driven me to create a supportive network that fosters academic success and personal growth. Key aspects of my teaching approach is the use of multiple modalities to present topics such as mindset, emotional intelligence, goal setting, productivity, critical thinking, stress management, mindfulness, networking, and accessing support systems. This has allowed me to connect with students on a deeper level and help them develop the critical skills they need to succeed both in and out of the classroom.

Throughout my time at NAU, I have collaborated with various campus partners, including Athletics, Advising, Financial Aid, Academic Success Center, Veteran's Success Center, Native American Cultural Center, Campus Health Services, Center for International Education, Residential Housing, Faculty Development, and Human Resources Learning & Development. These partnerships have allowed me to contribute to the development of curricula for courses such as FYS, 121, FYS131, NAU 120, NAU130 and NAU199, in addition to other courses I have taught, including GSP 240, GSP 241, and CIE 299.
